NEW QUESTION: 1

A company has a highly-secure network infrastructure environment. All servers in the environment run Windows Server 2012 R2.

You must create a new virtual machine (VM) that meets the following requirements:

- The VM must minimize the risk that unauthorized firmware will run when the VM starts.
- The VM must load the operating system only if all operating system files have a valid signature.

You need to create the new VM. What should you do?

- A. Create a Generation 2 VM with the default settings.
- B. Create a Generation 1 VM and enable Secure Boot.
- C. Create a Generation 2 VM and disable Secure Boot.
- D. Create a Generation 1 VM and use a synthetic network adapter.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2

You are the business analyst in your organization and you've just completed the assessment on three different proposed solutions. In your judgment, you don't think any of the solutions provide enough value to justify being implemented. What should you tell the stakeholders?

- A. Choose the least costly solution.
- B. Ask for more time to find justification for the solutions.
- C. Terminate the initiative.
- D. Present each solution and allow the stakeholders to decide.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

When there is no business value to implement the solution, then you should recommend that the initiative be terminated.

A is incorrect. Choosing the least costly solution that doesn't add value doesn't make sense for the organization.

D is incorrect. While this is tempting, the best choice is to recommend that the initiative be terminated. There's not a good reason to implement a solution that doesn't bring value to the organization.

B is incorrect. Asking for more time isn't the best answer when you've already determined there's no business value in the solutions.
