NEW QUESTION: 1

- A. 128KB
- B. 192 KB

- C. 32KB
- D. 160 KB

Answer: D

Explanation:

RAID Technique - Striping

Strip size (also called stripe depth) describes the number of blocks in a strip, and is the maximum amount of data that can be written to or read from a single disk in the set, assuming that the accessed data starts at the beginning of the strip. All strips in a stripe have the same number of blocks. Having a smaller strip size means that the data is broken into smaller pieces while spread across the disks.

Stripe size is a multiple of strip size by the number of data disks in the RAID set. For example, in a five disk striped RAID set with a strip size of 64KB, the stripe size is 320 KB (64KB x 5).

Stripe width refers to the number of data strips in a stripe. Striped RAID does not provide any data protection unless parity or mirroring is used.

For parity RAID, the stripe size calculation does not include the parity strip. For example in a five (4 + 1) disk parity RAID set with a strip size of 64 KB, the stripe size will be 256 KB (64 KB x 4).

Calculation

RAID5 = 1x Parity

5 Disk RAID-5 Set = 4 Data + 1 Parity

Stripe Size = 32KB * 5 = 160KB
