NEW QUESTION: 3

Examine the exhibit.

What is this message?

- A. Kernel Panic
- B. Power-On Self-Test
- C. Firmware Update
- D. Software Update

Answer: A

Explanation:

Kernel Panic Basics

A kernel panic is a type of error that occurs when the core (kernel) of an operating system receives an instruction in an unexpected format, or that it fails to handle properly.

A kernel panic may also follow when the operating system is not able to recover from a different type of error. A kernel panic can be caused by damaged or incompatible software or, more rarely, damaged or incompatible hardware.

Kernel panics in Mac OS should not be confused with an application freeze. Instead of just one application no longer functioning, the entire system is no longer operable.

Here you see the onscreen dialog a Mac running Mac OS X 10.2 or later displays.

For more detailed information on kernel panics, review "About 'You need to restart your computer' (kernelpanic) messages".<http://support.apple.com/kb/TS3742>
