NEW QUESTION: 2
A company is considering making material adaptations to its warehouse and equipment. These costs will be $25,000,000 and will have a benefit period of 10 years. The income tax rate during this period will be 30%. The company is considering the effects of capitalizing the costs versus expensing the cost. In year one, which of the following would be true concerning post-tax income?
A. The expensing would cause $15,750,000 less in net income.
B. The expensing would have $22,500,000 less in net income C. The expensing would cause $25,000,000 less in net income.
Answer: A
Explanation:
In the first year, expenses would be $25,000,000 if the costs were expensed. If costs were capitalized, expenses would be $2,500,000 ($25,000,000/10). The difference in the expenses is $ 22,500,000, before the tax effect, and $15,750,000 after taxes ($22,500,000 x .7). If the costs were expensed in the first year, net income would be $15,750,000 less.

NEW QUESTION: 3
A company hires outside security experts to evaluate the security status of the corporate network. All of the company's IT resources are outdated and prone to crashing. The company requests that all testing be performed in a way which minimizes the risk of system failures. Which of the following types of testing does the company want performed?
A. Vulnerability scanning
B. WAF testing
C. Penetration testing
D. White box testing
Answer: A
Explanation:
Vulnerability scanning has minimal impact on network resource due to the passive nature of the scanning.
A vulnerability scan is the process of scanning the network and/or I.T. infrastructure for threats and vulnerabilities. The threats and vulnerabilities are then evaluated in a risk assessment and the necessary actions taken to resolve and vulnerabilities. A vulnerability scan scans for known weaknesses such as missing patches or security updates.
A vulnerability scan is the automated process of proactively identifying security vulnerabilities of computing systems in a network in order to determine if and where a system can be exploited and/or threatened. While public servers are important for communication and data transfer over the Internet, they open the door to potential security breaches by threat agents, such as malicious hackers.
Vulnerability scanning employs software that seeks out security flaws based on a database of known flaws, testing systems for the occurrence of these flaws and generating a report of the findings that an individual or an enterprise can use to tighten the network's security.
